When twenty-two-year-old Katerina Blackwind finds a dragon egg buried in her father's grave, she begins to question everything she thought she knew.
She must return the forbidden dragon hatchling—Daeja—north to the secretive Dragon Lands: where dragons roam free and a rebellion group resides. But she can't do it on her own—smuggling a dragon hatchling across the realm during a war between Arterians and rebels means she can be killed by either side. Danger lurks at every turn and as more secrets are unearthed, Kat is left to question everything she thought she knew about dragons, her family, love, and the kingdom.
